Seeing the Son of David

Today's Gospel turns on an irony—it is a blind man, Bartimaeus, who becomes the first besides the apostles to recognize Jesus as the Messiah. And His healing is the last miracle Jesus performs before entering the holy city of Jerusalem for His last week on earth.

The scene on the road to Jerusalem evokes the joyful procession prophesied by Jeremiah in today's First Reading. In Jesus this prophecy is fulfilled. God, through the Messiah, is delivering His people from exile, bringing them back from the ends of the earth, with the blind and lame in their midst.

Jesus, as Bartimaeus proclaims, is the long-awaited Son promised to David (see 2 Samuel 7:12-16; Isaiah 11:9; Jeremiah 23:5). Upon His triumphal arrival in Jerusalem, all will see that the everlasting kingdom of David has come (see Mark 11:9-10).

As we hear in today's Epistle, the Son of David was expected to be the Son of God (see Psalm 2:7). He was to be a priest-king like Melchizedek (see Psalm 110:4), who offered bread and wine to God Most High at the dawn of salvation history (see Genesis 14:18-20).

Bartimaeus is a symbol of his people, the captive Zion which we sing of in today's Psalm. His God has done great things for him. All his life has been sown in tears and weeping. Now, he reaps a new life.

Bartimaeus, too, should be a sign for us. How often Christ passes us by—in the person of the poor, in the distressing guise of a troublesome family member or burdensome associate (see Matthew 25:31-46)—and yet we don't see Him.

Christ still calls to us through His Church, as Jesus sent His apostles to call Bartimaeus. Yet how often are we found to be listening instead to the voices of the crowd, not hearing the words of His Church.

Today He asks us what He asks Bartimaeus, "What do you want me to do for you?" Rejoicing, let us ask the same thing of Him—what can we do for all that He has done for us?

Thirtieth Sunday in Ordinary Time, Year B

First Reading — Jeremiah 31:7-9: The LORD promises to bring back the remnant of Israel from the north, comforting and guiding them as a father, ensuring a safe return for all, including the vulnerable.

Responsorial Psalm — Psalm 126: The LORD restored Zion's captives, filling us with joy. Nations recognized God's deeds. We pray for renewed fortunes, knowing those who sow in tears will reap in joy, bringing in their harvest.

Second Reading — Hebrews 5:1-6: High priests are chosen from among men to offer sacrifices for sins. Christ, called by God, is a priest forever in the order of Melchizedek, not by self-glorification.

Gospel — Mark 10:46-52: Bartimaeus, a blind beggar, called out to Jesus for mercy. Despite being told to be quiet, he persisted. Jesus healed him, saying his faith had saved him. Bartimaeus then followed Jesus.

30th Sunday in Ordinary Time

An old man was walking around a lake and the water had dropped off rather quickly, stranding many fish in the shallow water and mud. As he walked along, he would pick up a fish and toss it into deeper water. A woman walking by saw this and told him that he was crazy! He'd never throw all the fish back into the water. "What does it matter?" she asked. Picking up a fish, he said, "It matters to this one."

Jesus does not heal the whole world all at once, nor does he reveal Himself to all in one huge display of power and glory. Although He preaches to large crowds, He is keenly aware of individual people and specific needs that each one has. He heals one by one. He teaches the Apostles privately. He raises Lazarus from the dead. Each person has his or her own encounter with Jesus and, to each one that encounter matters.

It is easy to feel lost in our world where we become just a number, or another screen name in cyber space. It is easy to feel disconnected from God, wondering if He really knows me or really cares about me. The truth is that God knows us by name. He made us in His own image and shares His life with us. We are not strangers, but sons and daughters. Keep the faith and trust the Lord. We matter and we matter to Him.

SUNDAY FUNDAY

BIBLE RESEARCH

The first reading and the responsorial psalm this Sunday both refer to people being brought back, rejoicing, after having 'departed in tears.' These people were 'the captives of Zion;' Jews who had been conquered and taken into exile. The prophet Jeremiah lived at that time.

'The Exile' is a famous piece of biblical history. See what you can find out about it. Who conquered the Israelites, and when? Why were the Jews taken into exile, and where was their exile? When were they able to return? What was the importance of Jeremiah?
